MRS. SIGOURNEY.

Methinks I hear a thousand strings In strains melotions and angust, More lofty than when queens and kings Lie down to sleep in kindred dust—

For her whose timeful voice and hand So long and oft has swept the lyre, And scattered o'er a mourning land The seeds of thought in words of fire;

For her whose purity and truth, Undimmed by age, unqueuched by time, In the bright guidance of our youth So long has built the lotty rhyme,

While o'er the universe of thought Her soaring spirit winged its flight, And homeward every trophy brought To charm us with some new delight

Whou friends and neighbors fell around.
Whose words like hers could grace the bier?
What optingle was more profound?
Who shed such sympathizing tear?

What patriot deed, or thought divine— What noble work of high emprise— What here died and mate no sign, But she has robed in rainbow dyes?

What noble theme has she not sung?
Her fame to other lands has flown:
Wharever sounds our mother tongue,
They hold her memory like our own.

While Quinebaug and Yantic glide Where first she drew her native air— By Engand's Thames and Scotland's Clyde Her memory lingers there!

And here where our broad river sweeps
By tower and spire and swelling domeHere by the grave where Genius sleeps,
From distant lands shall pilgrims come

And here recount her varied lore, Tell of the wonders she has dene, And spread her name from shore to shore, The good, the pure, the gifted one.

Her bust shall shine in marble halls,
The amaranth her brow shall twine,
And classic lanes and cloistered walls
Add one more Muse unto the Nine.

The House at the foot of the Hill.

Oh! the music and mirth that there used to be in the house at the foot of the hill!
The laughter, and rolle, and fin, ah me!
How my heart leaps up and my pulses thrill,
Whenever I look at the vanishing track of the sumy old days that will never come back
To the house at the foot of the hill.

t was morning then, and the glorious east Its banners of crimson and gold Waved close in heir faces, and ever there gleame Such lighten each womberful fold, That with visions of beauty and dreams of delight Those young hearts were throbbing from morning night In the liouse at the foot of the hill,

I said it is morning, but now it is noon,
It was early, but now it is late;
As travelling in my pilgrim shoon,
For a moment I listen and wait,
But those happy young faces, from window and dow
Will smile me a welcome, alsa, nevermore!
To the house at the foot of the hill.

To the house at the loot of the lim.

Those four pleasant sisters, how callly they sleep on their pillows unruffled by pain;
Their music—the breezes which over them sweep,
And the soft hullaby of the rain,
While a little way off, scarce a stone's throw away,
So lonely and silent, with years growing gray,
Stands the house at the foot of the lult,

Around it, as loudly and glad as of old Will robins and orioles sing. And in the green deloway bright flowers will smile At the first gentle whisper of spring: Where the girls gathered roses to twine in their thir The old bush its sweet censers will sing in the air By the louse at the foot of the full.

This School has more than 200 names on its Register, and has quite outgrown its accommodations, a circumstance which adds not a little to the labors of the teachers. In spite of this peculiar inconvenience, the examination was sustained with decided credit to the Principal, Mr. G. Perkins and his three faithful assistants. Twenty members of the first class were promoted to the High School, of whom 14 are young ladies. The large attendance of parents and citizens was very gratifying to the School and to the members of the Committee, Addresses were made at the close of the exercises by L.

Esq., and the Chairman of the Board. It is expected that a class of not less than 75 will enter this school at the commencement of the next year. Extensive alterations in the school building will be commenced immediately to meet the pressing necessities of the case.

EXCELSIOR

Yet, now bethink thee, oh adventurous muse! Call in thy thoughts that fain would wander wide, For fancy is not always wise to choose When reason steps from quiet ways aside.

One bright and flowering June, far in the past, Just one half century from this honored day, some friends of generous, meditative cast, With quickened footsteps hied them down this way Lo! one, another, and another came— Women of earnest life and ripening youth, Queenly withal, but, yet unknown to fame, Enquirers for the ways of right and truth. Unknown to fame, but richest gifts were theirs; A holy trust in God, a christlike zeal; A generous love that human burdens shares, And weeps the woes it has no power to heal. We see them now, women of comely face, Of pleasing manners, fair and open brow; Attired in modest robes they move apace, We wondering ask, as some wilt do, what now?

And back the answer comes with fitting speed,
"A Union's to be formed," ay, yes—what then?
Such are exciting things in very deed,
But very common 'mong the race of men. We'll drink new pleasures in.

FOURTH OF JULY .- The Chief of Police, under the direction of the Selectmen, has given notice, that all persons detected in discharging "pistols, cannons, or any description of fire arms, in the streets, or public places, in the town of Woburn, on the Fourth of July next, or at any time immediately preceding or following said day, will be dealt with according to law." This course is to be pursued only as a precaution against accidents, and not under any consideration to curtail the privileges of any one on this day, which, above all previous ones, ought to be celebrated in every rational manner. The safety of the public imperatively demands that something be done, for most of the pistols used by boys have only fixed ammunition, bullets included, and in the hands of such, and even young men, are extremely dangerous. It is to be hoped that parents and "Here, I am "scaped the city's stifling heat, I is hortfi sounds and its polluting air;" ice, under the direction of the Selectous. This Medicine has been pronounced by competent Judges to be the best and most reliable Tonic and Appetizer ever offered to the American public. It has no fellowship with the humbug nostrums of the day, but is composed of medicinal agents which science and experience have proved to be the incincible opponents of Discose. A prominent element in its composition is the celebrated Perucion Bark, (Cinchona Calisager.) the therapeutical value of which is recognized by the first Physicians and men of Science of this day.

After repeated and proper solicitations of numericans and the second second control of the second control o

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS.—THE GREAT FEMALE REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITES.

These Drops are a scientifically compounded fluid preparation, and better than any Pills, Powders, or Nostrums. Reing Hquist, their action is direct and positive, readering them a reliable, speedy end certain specific for the cure of all obstructions and suppressions of nature. Their popularity is indicated by the fact that over 100,000 bottles are annually sold and consumed by the ladies of the United States, everyone of whom speak in the strongest terms of praise of their great merits. They are rapidly taking the place of every other Female Remedy, and are considered by all who know aught of them, as the surest, safest, and most infallible preparation in the world, for the cure of all female complaints, the removal of all obstructions of nature, and the promotion of health, regularity and strength. Explicit directions stating when they should not, nor could not be used without producing effects contrary to nature's chosen laws, will be found carefully folded around each bottle, with the written signature of Join I. Lyon, without which none are genuine.

PURPLE PANSIES:

No one to welcome him.

BY KATE DENORMANDIE.

The moon is pouring a silvery flood of that nestle like white birds at the foot of weary march is ended. Many gallant soldiers of the army of the Potomac are camping together for the last time, and ere the setting sun shall again kindle its watch-fires on the western hills, they will have hastened to Northern homes, where fond hearts are anxiously awaiting their return.

Two soldiers are pacing back and forth in the white moonlight.

"I don't know why it is, Clinton," said one, "but it has made me feel nervous and restless all day to here the boys talk about going home. They all seemed so full of spirits and so eager for the morrow to come that, to tell the truth, it made me decidedly blue. Home! I haven't any home to which to return. Editor of the Journal. In reply to many letters and inquiries from people in this section of the country, the undersigned take great pleasure in saying through the columns of your paper, that our renowned preparation known as COE'S DYS-PEPSIA CURE, is a certam cure for Dyspepsia, in its worst stages. Many cures of long standing, within our own acquaintance, bave been completely, and we believe permanently cured. It will stop distress after eating almost instantaneously, and enables the dyspeptic who has lived for years upon Graham bread and the plainest det to cat as heartily as he pleases, and any thing he chooses, without danger of distress, or souring, or rising on the stomach. It is an infallible corrector of indigestion and constipation, creates a healthy appetite, stops sick-headache, heart-burn, sickness at the stomach, pans, cramps, or colic in either stomach or bowels, and sweetens offensive breath, as soon as you take it, and by enabling the patient to take plenty of hearty food, "which is the parent of health," produces vigor, strength and energy. In every trial we have known it has speedily eradicated Dyspepsia with all its attendant sufferings, weakness, debility, and loss of power, glving instead, a proper activity and tone to the stomach and organs of digestion, and as we confidently believe, and as the published certificates in our circulars, almanaes, and in many of the leading Journals, from convalescent patients will confirm, completely, permanently, and almost miraculously "cure the worst case of Dyspepsia in existence." We warrant it in every instance. It can be obtained at all the Drug Stores in the United States and Canadas, at §1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for §5.00.

SPANISH ROUGE.—The Spanish Rouge for polishing or cleaning gold, silver, plated, Britannia, and other ware, is pronounced by all who have used it a superior and elegant article. It saves so much labor and does its works o brilliantly that it has already become invaluable. Mr. J. K. Bradstreet, general agent, at 96, Washington street, furnishes the article any quantity, and it may be obtained in Woburn, of W. C. Brigham. It does not injure the purest jewelry but conveys a lustre as durable as it is dazzling. In machinery also as well as in household articles it a equally beneficial. The SPANISH ROUGE unquestionably is destined to supersed every polishing composition in the market.

A FLOWER STORY .- We are told that the Duke of Tuscany was the first possessor of a pretty shrub of Europe, and he was so jealously fearful lest others should enjoy what he alone wished to possess, that strict instructions were given to his gardener not to give a slip, not so much as a single flower, to any person. To this command the gardner would have been faithful, had not love wounded him by the sparkling eyes of a fair but portionless peasant, whose want of a dowry and his own poverty alone the birthday of his mistress he presented her with a nosegay, and to render it more acceptable, ornamented it with a jasmine. The "povera figlia," wishing to preserve the bloom of this new flower, put it into the earth, and the branch remained green all the year. In the following spring it grew and was covered with flowers. It flourished and multiplied so under the fair nymph's cultivation, that she was able to amass a little fortune from the sale of the precious gift which love had made her, when, with a sprig of jasmine in her breast, she gave her hand and wealth to the happy gardner of her heart. And the Tuscan girls to this time, preserve the remembrance of this day by wearing a nosegay of jasmine on their wedding day, and they have a provreb which says a young girl wearing this nosegay is rich enough to make the fortune of a rich husband.

SELLING OFF, AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES. FOR THIRTY DAYS.

The first Monday of June, being the fifth day of said month, Amo Domini, 1895.

The following By Law, adopted by the Inhabitants of the town of Reading, in said County, was presented to the Court for approval, and being seen and anderstood by the Court, the same was approved:

Article 4. To see whether the town willmake any By Laws or Regulations to prevent the pasturing of cattle or other animals in the public streets or highways within the town, or what they will do in relation thereto.

Voted, That no cattle or other animals shall be pastured, either with or without a keeper, upon any of the public streets or ways in this town; and for every violation of this By Law, or regulation, the owner or keeper of such cattle, or other animals, shall, on complaint, pay a fine not exceeding tendollars, as the Court shall decide—the same to be for the use of the town.

In testimony that the foregoing is a true copy record, I have hereto affixed the scale of said Court, and set say hand this thirtleft day of June, A. D., 1895.

of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Flood. Of all the dis-coveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect Helmhold's Compound Extract of Sam-ENFARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood, instilla-the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought for, and now, for the first time the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificaties to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has its virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Two tablespoonsful of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lishon Diet Drink; and ene bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Eyrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

A CARD.

Editor of the Journal. In reply to many letters and inquiries from people in this section of the country, the undersigned take great pleasure in saying through the columns of your paper, that our renowned preparation known as COE'S DYS-PETSIA CURE, is a certam cure for Dyspepsia, in its worst stages. Many cures of long standing, within our own acquaintance, bave been completely, and we believe permanently cured. It will stop distress after eating almost instantaneously, and enables the dyspeptic who has lived for years upon Graham bread and the plainest diet to eat as heartily as he pleases, and any thing he chooses, without danger of distress, or souring, or rising on the stomach. It is an infallible corrector of indigostion and constipation, creates a healthy appetite, stops sick headache, heart burn, sickness at the stomach, pains, cramps, or colic in either stomach or bowels, and sweetens offensive breath, as soon as you take it, and by enabling the patient to take plenty of hearty food, "which is the parent of health," produces vigor, strength and energy. In every trial we have known it has speedly eradicated Dyspepsia with all its attendant sufferings, weakness, debility, and loss of power, giving instead, a proper activity and tone to the stomach and organs of digestion, and as we confidently believe, and as the published certificates in our elreulars, almanaes, and in many of the leading Journals, from convalescent patients will confirm. completely, permanently, and almost miraculously 'cure the worst case of Dyspepsia in existence.' We warrant it in every instance. It can be obtained at all the Drug Stores in the United States and Canadas, at $1.00 pr pottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

A Parisian Romance.

In a quiet street of the Marais-which is the Sleepy hollow of Paris-lives a retired tradesman who has accumulated a respectable competency of fortune, say handsome young fellow of five-and-twenty, with dainty black moustaches, and a pair of blue eyes such as an artist conversation, this superinduced something else, which in turn brought to pass something else still, until the concatenayoung man introduced into the drawingroom of the retired sugar-mould dealer. Acquaintance gradually ripened into a sort of intimacy around the table where draughts and chess and backgammon (though passionately fond of all these nnocent games) contrived never to win a hands of his hosts. The heiress of the house, accustomed to see no other young man, soon became touched by her young neighbor, and the parents were not averss from a marriage between them. Neverbroached, until one evening the young by one of them:

"Toulon, June 18, 1864. "My Dear Nephew:-I did not send you to Paris for you to be guilty of nonsense. Your last letters are filled with the details of a pretty romance, which I dare say boaring-school girls would deem very touching, you have begun to read with a little girl named Celeste. I am no boarding-school girl, and I do not fancy nonsense. I have not laid up $200,-000 by Indian voyages these twenty years gone to see my nephew and only heir with his aristocratic appearance and name marry a Mdile. Celeste, the daughter of a dealer in sugar-moulds. Do not of Woburn and vicinity that they mention that girl's name to me again, or I shall be very angry with you. Remember that I am to you just what my poor brother that is dead and gone wasyour father; and he, as you well know, would never have allowed you to be guilty of any such stupid proceeding.

I think if I had not used the Great German Heilmittel, I should have certainly been dead long ago. All that ever cured my catarrh and saved me from consumption, I owe to this invaluable remedy.

ROBERT WRIGHT.

Hartford, Conn.

My wife has suffered with catarrh and bronchitis for years. About a year ago last winter, she was completely run down in strength, and my physician pronounced her case consumption. Being anxious to do all that could be done for her, I bought a bottle of The German Heilmittel. By the use of the very first bottle, my wife began to improve, and after using but six bottles of it. entirely recovered her health. The following By Law, adopted by the Inhabitants of the town of Reading, in said County, was presented to the Court, the same was approved:

Article 4. To see whether the town will make any By Laws or Regulations to prevent the pasturing of cattle or other animals in the public streets or highways within the town, or what they will do in relation thereto.

Voted, That no cattle or other animals shall be pastured, either with or without a keeper, upon any of the public streets or ways in this town; and for every violation of this By Law, or regulation, the owner or keeper of such cattle, or other animal, shall, on complaint, pay a fine not exceeding tendible that the condoction of the first that delice—the same to be for the condoction of the same to be for the same to be for the condoction of the same to be for the same to be some to be same to be same to be same to be same to

This surpasses all other like preparations, as much as does Rusni's Sarsararatilla and Inon, and for the same reasons. It is a sovereign remedy for all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, attended with deblifty, pain in the back, disordered liver and stomach, unnatural scretton and other urinary symptoms. The combination with Iron is found to promote fise curative powers in a high degree. Price, $1 per large bottle. It may be procured in the same way as Rushis Sarsaparilla and Iron, and at 50 SCHOOL ST., HOSTON. Read the article on Rush's Sarsaparilla and Iron, where the reasons are given why the combination with Iron is especially valuable in all cases of debility.

Numerous certificates and letters relating cures effected by this medicine, from persons of high character and standing, may be seen by calling at the principal office of Rush's Infirmary and Rush's Medicines, at 50 School Street, Boston.

RUSH'S SARSAPARILLA AND IRON.

All good physicians now admit the importance of Janos to carefa and give life to poor and watery blood. There can be no new and healthy blood formed withcome in the system. Sarsaparilla, also, is not less admitted to have the property of Fullivire the blood of all corrupt humors.

RUSH'S Sarsaparalla and Iron is a chemical compound of the best imported Sarsaparilla, with the most delicate and active preparation of Iron knows to modern science. It was first prepared by the celebrated Dr. Rush, who used it for the cure of nearly all chronic diseases. It has since been improved and perfected by Professor Flanders, who now prepares it. It is pleasant to take, and agrees with the most delicate stomach. It purifies, and gives new life to the blood, in the shortest possible time; brings new roses to the checks of the pale and languil; makes the complexion clear and beautiful; and gives strength and animation to the entire system. Every Rat that can get it, properly prepared according to directions, will eat it, and every one that eats it will die, generally at some place as distant as possible from where the medicine was taken.—Lake Shore, Mich., See "Costar's" advertisement in this paper.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin need be so no longer, if they use "COSTAI'S" Exterminator. We have used it to our satisfaction; and if a box cost $8, we would have it. We have tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but "Costar" article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice, Koaches, Ants, and Bed-Bugs, guicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.—Medina, Ohio, Gasette. F' See "COSTAR'S" advertisement in this paper.

THE GREAT

German Reilmittel, WILL POSITIVELY CURE

CATARRH, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS COLDS.

AND THE FIRST STAGES OF

NEW & COMMODIOUS CONSUMPTION.

IT IS A SURE PREVENTATIVE FOR DIPHTHERIA.

This remedy is prepared by a regular Physician of fifteen year's experience, and an extensive practice in diseases of the Pulmonary mucous membrane, prescribing constantly the Heilmittel with unfailing success, thus curing thousands who, in vain, have exhausted every other means to obtain relief. A few of the many certificates of cures in the possession of the Doctor are here annexed, which the reader is desired to peruse. They are not certificates of the dead, or names of those who never existed, but parties well known in Boston and vicinity.

Thankful for the LIBERAL PATRONAGE in the past, they solicit a continuance of the same.

Goods freely shown, and the public respectfully invited to examine our stock and see the advantages of our new location.

Wolf our best medical men without success, I was induced by my friends to try the Great German Heilmittel. To my surprise, her cough ceased at once, her catarrh melted away, and now she is radically cured. With the cure of the eatarrh, all the symptoms attending this disagreeable disease, such as discharges from the nose and dropping into the throat, hawk in great the cough of the stockholders of this Bank, held on the or catarrh, to try it. They will certainly find it a sure cure.

MRS. HALE'S.

My wife has suffered with catarrh and bronchitis for years. About a year ago last wither, she was completely run down in strength, and my physician pronounced her case consumption. Being anxious to do all that could be done for her, I bought a bottle of The German Heilmittel. By the use of the very first bottle, my wife began to improve, and after using but its bottles of it, entirely recovered her health. I consider myself very fortunate in trying this remedy, and deem it my duty to recommend it to all who are suffering with even the slightest cold or cough.

of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Elood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect Hellinghout's Countext Extract or Familiar.

It cleanses and renovates the Elood, instillation to rigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow had rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought for, and now, for the first time the public have one on which they can depend. Our pacehero does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has its virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Two tablespoonsful of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decection as assually made.

From the Journal of Medical Reform.

"We are glad to hear of the re establishment of Rush's Infirmery in the city of Lowell." Dr. Planders who now conducts it, was formerly Professor in one of the leading colleges at Philadelphia, and the author of valuable medical except in many parts of our Union. His recent visit to the principal hospitals, and other medical institutions of Europe, has no doubt added a large stock of information. In the treatment of consumption, and the most difficult and dangerous chronic diseases, he probably has no superior in America. In curing the sick at a distance, we think he has no equal. The princip questions which he sends to invalids are very ingeniously adapted to secure this object."

RUSH'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

This is the safest, mildest, and at the same time most effectual family physic pill now in use. It is a powerful promoter of the action of the Liver; and entirely avoids the necessity of calomel, or blue pill, and acts without nauscating or griping. It is entirely vegetable; and being prepared from the juices of plants, and roots, which grow in our own forests, is especially adapted to the system of our people. Into a grocer's shop I know, To purchase household stores I go. And buy at prices fair; The tradesman is a civil man But one thing in his daily plan A grave reproof will bear.

For often you may see, among His customers (a well-dressed throng), A child in mean attire; Who has to wait and watch and stand, Till grown-up folks and ladies grand, Are served to their desire.

As in that shop I sat one morn, I marked a ragged child forlorn, With cager gaze stand there.
The shopman passed her by, as though Her presence e'en they did not know, Which was not kind nor fair.

My thoughts were on the girl alone, When I was asked in courteos tones-"Your pleasure, ma'am, to-day?" "That little girl," I said, "I fear Is sadly tired of waiting here. Attend to her, I pray!"

The child a bright glance threw on me, As her few pence would buy. "Now, little woman, back with haste Lest mother think your time you waste;"

A tear stood in her eye. "Oh yes! I will, or baby dear Will into mischief get I fear-I left him on the floor: My mother has been ill in bed, With burning cheek and aching head, . I think a week or more!"

A NEW PHASE OF THE OLD STORY.

[From London Society.]

We have it on such high authority that there is nothing new under the sun,' that unless the subject was one on which I had thought a great deal, I should hesitate to own my conviction that the saying, if not utterly unfounded, is only to be interpreted in the most general way. Woburn Indeed, it has been a satisfaction to me in my very severe trial to think that my own case is probably quite without a precedent; and though it first was an aditional thorn that not one, even of my can watch their polite attempts to keep faction, for I read in every curve of the mouth an additional evidence that I have not grieved as men grieve commonly, and that my love, like others in never running smooth, has at least chosen a new country, and led me along a rough road, which no one, perhaps, has ever explored before me.

My grandfather was an old-fashioned country squire, whose first wife had died at the birth of their second child-my mother. CONDITION OF THE NEGROES IN

"We are informed by a physician that there is great suffering among the ne-city. Many are dying, and more are confined by sickness. They are destitute of all comforts, not able to procure medical aid, nor even the necessaries of life. Numbers are crowded into small rooms which renders recovery improbable. It is stated that in two small rooms there are fifty miserable wretches crowded, This excessive hot weather is bringing disease of every character among them. Unless there are steps taken soon to relieve them, they will die by scores. Little sympathy is felt for these poor creatures, for they are mostly from the country, and had they acted wisely, they would have stayed with their masters until some provision was made for them. The government has no means of helping them at present,

A wood-dealer named Charles Miller, and a span of horses, were killed by lightning at Mt. Airy, near Columbus, last Friday evening. When found, he was lying back on a chain stretched across the bed of the wagon, his hat particle wagon tially burnt, and his boots destroyed. The lightning struck him on the left side of the head, and passed directly down the neck and body. The horses were found side by side, and apparently not a musside side by side, and apparently not a musside side side. side by side, and apparently not a muscle had moved after being overtaken by the fatal bolt.

How to DISTINGUISH GOOD FROM

BAD CALICO,—The cost of a yard of calico is a matter of considerable importance to the consumer who studies economy; but, unfortunately, there are those who, in wishing to practice frugality, decive themselves into an idea that because an article is low in price it must necessarily be cheap. The result of this is a demand upon the manufacturer for low priced goods, and he, to keep pace with the wants of his customers, introduces into the wares, when practicable certain preparations calculated to hide the flimsiness of the products he is thus called upon to supply. This system of "dressing and finishing" as it is called, is practiced at the present time to a greater extent than ever it was before, owing to the enormous advance in the price of cotton of late years. The commoness calicoes are dressed with flour, chimalelay, &c., and generally so artfully filled with one or the other of such preparations as to be very deceptive to the inexperienced eye. When, however, such a lressed fabric comes to be washed, the extra fine finish, as it is frequently called, disappears, leaving a soft and loosely woven texture in the hand, while the vater in which it has been soaked, is almost thick enough for bill-sticking purposes. The finest "makes," on the contact is the contact of the conta BAD CALICO, -The cost of a yard of calico is a matter of considerable impory," as the Manchester men say. If it be charges of sale.

FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS, &c., in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"

Many are not requestly followed by account of the discount of the cause of the irrumering, but none will confess. The records of the insune asylums and the melancholy deaths by consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion.

The Constitution, once affected by organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most sceptical.

In many affections peculiar to Females, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequated by any other remedy, and for all complaints insident to the sex, or in the DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE,

It etimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and reakle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought for, and now, for the first time the public have one on which they can depend. Our ipace here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it fast its virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Two tablespoonstul of the Extract of Bareaparilla added to a plut of water is equal to the Lishon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarseparilla, or the decection as usually made,

CONSUMPTION.

This remedy is prepared by a regular Physician of fifteen year's experience, and an extensive practice in diseases of the Pulmonary mucous membrane, prescribing constants by the Helimittel with unfailing success, thus ted every other means to obtain relief. A few of the many certificates of cures in the which the reader is desired. few of the many certificates of cures in the possession of the Doctor are here annexed, which the reader is desired to peruse. They are not certificates of the dead, or names of those who never existed, but parties well known in Boston and vicinity.

To the Public.—My wife, having been afflicted with catarrh for years, attended latterly with a bad cough, having used many remedies and tried the treatment of several of our best medical men without success, I was induced by my friends to try the Great German Heimittel. To my surprise, her cough ceased at once, her catarrh melted away, and induced by my friends to try the Great German Heilmittel. To my surprise, her cough ceased at once, her catarrh melted away, and now she is radically cured. With the cure of the catarrh, all the symptoms attending this disagreeable disease, such as discharges from the nose and dropping into the throat, hawking, etc., etc., etc., all disappeared. I would not be without this invaluable remedy, and advise every one afflicted with coughs, colds, or catarrh, to try it. They will certainly find it a sure cure.

was effected in the remarkably short time of two days.

My neighbor, Mrs. Merrill, had a child who was suffering with a cough, and bleeding from the lungs, and to them, also, I gave part of a bottle. She reports a perfect cure of her child by this remarkable remedy, the Great German Heilmittel.

Cambridgeport, Jan. 1, 1865.

My little son was afflicted for a year or more with a bad cough. Having lost my husband with consumption, was consequently fearful of losing my child by the same disease. My friends and physicians who saw my child, pronounced it already consumption Although somewhat discouraged by these counsels, I tried my best to save him, and I am happy to state that I was successful by the use of the German Heilmittel. My son's cough disappeared, his general health im proved, and gained strength, and subsequently was radically cured, and has remained so for the last two years, not even having the cough return. MRS. J. L. LANG,
No. 10 Bedford street, Boston, Mass.

I think if I had not used the Great Ger man Heilmittel, I should have certainly been dead long ago. All that ever cured my catarrh and saved me from consumption, I owe to this invaluable remedy.

[From the Atlantic Monthly for August.] THE WILLOW. BY MRS. E. C. AKERS.

O Willow, why forever weep, As one who mourns an endless wrong What hidden wee can lie so deep? What utter grief can last so long?

The Spring makes haste, with step elate, Your life and beauty to renew; She even bids the roses wait, And gives her first sweet care to you.

The welcome redbreast folds his wing To pour for you his freshest strain; To you the earliest bluebirds sing, Till all your light stems thrill again

The sparrow trills his wedding song And trusts his tender brood to you; Fair flowering vines, the summer long, With clasp and kiss your beauty woo.

The rain braids diamonds in your hair, Yet still you droop, and still despair.

Beneath your boughs, at fall of dew, By lovers' lips so softly told The tale that all the ages through Has kept the world from growing old.

But still, though April's buds unfold, Or Summer sets the earth aleaf, Or Autumn pranks your robes with gold, You sway and sigh with graceful grief.

Mourn on forever, unconsoled, And keep your secret, faithful tree! No heart in all the world can hold

Don't put your extinguishing foot on the social chat, which men are too apt to the social chat, which men are too apt to characterize under the sarcastic epithet of "gossip." It is a bad sign for a woman's tongue to be sealed in her husband's presence. Let her talk about the neighbors just as much as she pleases, as long as she looks at the sunny side of things. After all, what is the difference between your critical dissection of Jonas Jefferson, the candidate for member of Congress, and your wife's spicy remarks concerning Mrs. Jonas Jefferson's ways and manners? Men never gossip—they only "discuss." Where is the harm? Why were people tossed together into a syrt of secial conclumeration if they were why were people to see to gether into a sert of social conglomeration if they were not meant to talk about each other, and visit each other, and share all the trials and vicisitudes of life together?

Make a little allowance for her share of the great inheritance of human nature. Don't expect her to smile in unmoved serenity when children are ungovernable, servants are in high rebellion, and hus-band comes home cross and hungry. If she is a little petulant, don't bang doors by way of soothing her temper. Just remember that a pleasant word or two, the touch of a kindly hand, or the light of a pitying eye will get like oil on the of a pitying eye, will act like oil on the troubled waters. Even men are known to get out of patience sometimes, therefore be not astonished at woman's occasional lapse of self-control.

The Lecture delivered before the list town, by the Rev. Father valuents to who, the patriot Priest," on Saturday evening last, at Lyceum Hall, was a grand success. Long before the lecture commenced to the lower announced for the lecture commenced, a delegation of the Stoneham Fenian Brotherhood, numbering some Fenian Brotherhood, numbering mingled with the glorious "Stars and Stripes," the audience could not restrain their enthusiasm, but gave vent to their excited feelings in long-continued rounds of applause. The reverend lecturer was introduced to the audience by J. H. Coxbright and happy smile from the face, when, at the close of day, we greet the loved ones around the family circle at home. They love us best, take the deepest interest in what concerns us, and are worthy to receive that which always gives the greatest pleasure we can give, cheerfulness at home.

When the frivolities, pleasures, and dissipations of the world put on their gala dresses, and would fain allure within the meshes of her iron (but silkenbound) net, have a care. Look well before venturing, lest the end shall find we have been drawn from the path of duty towards ourselves, our business, our families.

As in the course of our intercourse with acquaintances, we hear the good name of one and another traduced or villided, have a care that our countenance be not given, lest the words, "like chickens, come home to roost," and we in turn be made to feel the bitter stinging of the tongue of scandal; the "unruly member" must be watched.

If the young, in their efforts to secure a footing and a place in the business of the world, seek aid, have a care that fears about "misplaced confidence," withhold not the hand able to give the desired aid. Tis true "a child must creep before it walks," but shall it always be a creeper for the want of one to aid its feeble strength, and guide its tottering steps? We lend them help then,—soon they need our help no more, and ere long their strength does service for others of uncertaining ait who need their aid, as the course of time moves on.

When, from time to time, the calls for benevolence come before us, have a care to answer its demands. Time, time and integrity and scuring for preland the privation of the proposed and the meed our help no more, and ere long their strength does service for others of uncertain gait who need their aid, as the course of time moves on.

When, from time to time, the calls for benevolence come before us, have a care to answer its demands. Time, time and again the charities we bestow may be misappropriated—may be "like water poured upon the ground which cannot be gathered up." Be sure that this faithlessness on the part of others close not the doors to our hearts, and fasten the strings of our purses, for then indeed shall we be dupes. Our noblest impulses will become blunted, our highest aspirations choked by the closing of the outlet to our charities through which they were meant to find exit.

As wealth flows in, and each day adds its part to the already heavy purse, have a care that the greed of gain chokes not the avenues of healthful pleasures. The heart may be kept young, though the locks may be whitening and frosting with years, by the participation in pleasures which make the blood to flow with a quicker throb through the veins, and warm the heart of childhood or of age.

Let us remember that in union there is strength, and have a care that it rade and in dealings with our fellows we extend the mutual helps by which the business of our town is kept up and gradually increased. Do not go elsewhere for goods, commodities, or services that can be furnished here, lest in the end we find ourselves the losers thereby, and in our turn wait for the client or the purchaser.

In short, have a care in everything, at all times. In business and pleasure, in sickness and health; but be more than in sickness and health; but be more than indied thousand well-armed and disciplined men,) and the great influence they possessed in intimidating the British government, and securing for the unit, and the great influence they possessed in intimidating the British government, will the volunteers own laws by its own Parliament. With the disbandment of frelamd, until by treachery and British gold used ansparingly and unbl ourselves the losers thereby, and in our turn wait for the client or the purchaser.

In short, have a care in everything, at all times. In business and pleasure, in sickness and health; but be more than careful that it corrodes not, nor leads to selfishness, unkindness, injustice or the blunting of the faculties which were meant, with the right use, to bring us the highest appreciation of the beauties there are in nature, and the kindness there is in the human heart.

"Begone, dull care!" and in your-place come that wholesome care not to unnecessarily wound the feelings or prejudices of others, that watchfulness over business, that judicious selection of pleasures, which aviods giving offence, secures success, which makes this life what it was meant to be: a school for the enjoyments of the "better life" which is to come.

Mr. Editor:—As it may be interesting to some of the readers of your paper, to hear from your Winchester correspondent from this place, you will permit him to date his weekly epistle from this sile of the sea, leaving his little town to be cared for by another.

Like numerous others of the denizens of his and other towns and cities, he has sought to re-invigorate his health by a brief absence from business and home.

We left the goodly city of Boston last Thursday morning, in the cars upon the Eastern Railroad, and after a ride of an hour and three-quarters were landed in Portsmouth; thence we went on board the steamer Pioneer, and after an hour and a quarter's pleasant voyage we reached Appledore, formerly Hog Island, where a portion of the passengers were of this, ye who are sweltering amid the heat of last week, and wish yourselves here. over-hanging rock, alone and apart from the rest of the world, with clear, strong voices, the weary young travellers sang "Home, sweet Home."

Having arrived thus far on their journey in good health and spirits, they were not unmindful of the Hand that had been over them to this hour. Proceeding about one mile they encamped for the might, and after having refreshed themselves on hard tack and Adam's ale, they retired, and without much effort slept soundly. And here they would say, that notwithstanding the exposure and inconvenience incident to a continuous trampof four weeks, and although in complexion they are as brown as Native Americans, yet they have good appetites, sleep well, and weigh two pounds more than when they started. During this day they had walked twenty-three miles sight-seeing. Starting early next morning, they arrived at Woodstock at ten o'clock, A. M.

Leaving Woodstock at 5 P. M., they walked until 10 o'clock, when they halted to recuperate. For these last few days they have practiced rising early and travelling until near noon, when they would seek a cool, shady retreat, and rest for some four or five hours, then walk from seven to ten miles before pitching their tents. Arriving at Thornton, they remained there that night. The next day they travelled until ten o'clock, when finding a rather inviting spot, they haltday they travelled until ten o'clock, when finding a rather inviting spot, they halted and spread their blankets, regaling themselves with books and papers loaned them by a family that resided near their camping ground, and by the way appeared to be well disposed towards them. IT IS A SURE PREVENTATIVE FOR

DIPHTHERIA.

This remedy is prepared by a regular Physician of fifteen year's experience, and an extensive practice in diseases of the Pulmoextensive practice in diseases of the Pulmonary mucous membrane, prescribing constantible the Heilmittel with unfailing success, thus curing thousands who, in vain, have exhausted every other means to obtain relief. A few of the many certificates of cures in the possession of the Doctor are here annexed, which the reader is desired to peruse. They are not certificates of the dead, or names of those who never existed, but parties well known in Boston and vicinity.

To the Public.—My wife, having been afflicted with catarrh for years, attended latterly with a bad cough, having used many remedies and tried the treatment of several of our best medical men without success, I was induced by my friends to try the Great German Heilmittel. To my surprise, her cough ceased at once, her catarrh melted away, and induced by my friends to try the Great German Heilmittel. To my surprise, her cough ceased at once, her catarrh melted away, and now she is radically cured. With the cure of the catarrh, all the symptoms attending this disagreeable disease, such as discharges from the nose and dropping into the throat, hawking, etc., etc., etc., all disappeared. I would not be without this invaluable remedy, and advise every one afflicted with coughs, colds, or catarrh, to try it. They will certainly find it a sure cure.

The great German Heilmittel has cured an obstinate cough with which my family and myself have been troubled, and, in spite of our efforts, could not get cured. The cure was effected in the remarkably short time of two days.

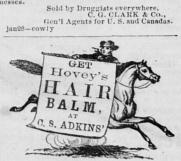

My neighbor, Mrs. Merrill, had a child who was suffering with a cough, and bleeding from the lungs, and to them, also, I gave part of a bottle. She reports a perfect cure of her child by this remarkable remedy, the Great German Heilmittel.

MY BOAT.

I sent it out upon the stormy sea,
Freighted with hope, with many cares and fears:
Trusting, in due time, its return to me,
I sent it out in a farewell of tears.

Main St., Stoneham, Mass. July29

SAMUEL W. ABBOTT, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon.

With straining eyes, for its returning home.

O! tell me, have you seen it, sailors grim and gray, You whose lives are passed upon the sea;

tett me, have you seen in any sea or bay
The boat that years ago went forth from me?

It was a little boat to venture forth from land, Too small, I fear, to combat with the gale; But years of labor, on this dreary sand, I spent upon the hull, and mast, and sail.

Its name was "Faith"—a gentle, trusting name None fitter could it bear upon the stormy se: Its builder cares for neither wealth nor fame: My little boat is all the world to me.

O! hear ye winds that fill its little sail! Deal gently with the wanderer wheresoe'er it be n storm and calm, in sunshine and in gale, Remember little "Faith" is all the world to me.

O! boisterous waves that roughly dash and break, Filling my soul with dread upon the shore, Break gently round her prow and in her wake: If ye should take my "Faith" what have I more?

BY THE SEA-SHORE.

Close by the side of the summer sea, Close by the side of the summer sea, Idly dreaming one summer day, Under the cedar boughs I lay; And ever the scented summer breeze A woke in the fragrant cedar-trees A wonderful melody.

watched the clouds in the azure sky, Fanciful shapes of castles grand, Floating over the sea and land, And the darting sea-gulls soar and dive, And the white-winged ships which seemed alive, As they drifted slowly by.

The waves broke low on the shining sand, Scattering everywhere beautiful shells Out of the ocean's mysterious cells; And sentinel-like the huge gray rocks, That had braved the storms and the tem Guarded the beautiful land.

Afar in the east hung the crescent n And the sun stood low in the royal west, Gilding the cedars upon the crest
Of the rugged cliff with a jubilant fire,
And the wind, which sung like a sweet-tened lyre,
Died away in a peaceful swoon.

And there came a ship toward the rosy shore; Radiant all were her sails so white With the glowing hue of the sun's rich light; And I said, "'Tis my ship, she comes this day," And lo! while I spoke she passed away, Like those which had gone before.

Ah! many a ship have I sent to sea
With costliest freight that a ship can hold— Hopes more precious by far than goldent them adrift in my boyhood's time; ood's joyless prime

ORCHARDS.—The following concise and appropriate remarks are given by "Canadian Orchardist" in the Canada Farmer, May 1, 1865:

"Allow me to give what I consider the best way to treat an orchard after it has the grass down short, making it good for the falling and picking up of the mature fruit. I know by my own experience, and the testimony of observing and praction of all kinds, should be kept down as short as possible.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin need be so no longer, if they use "Costant's" Exterminator. We have use if to our satisfaction; and if a box cost $8, we would have it. We have tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but "Costant's "article knocks the breath out of Ruts, Mice, Roaches, Ants, and Bed-Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.—Medina, Ohio, Gazette.

THEODORE COLLAMORE.

The great German Heilmittel has cured an obstinate cough with which my family and myself have been troubled, and, in spite of our efforts, could not get cured. The cure was effected in the remarkably short time of two days.

My neighbor, Mrs. Merrill, had a child who was suffering with a cough, and bleeding from the lungs, and to them, also, if gave part of a bottle. She reports a perfect cure of her child by this remarkable remedy, the Great German Heilmittel.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, A positive and Specific Remedy for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropalcal Swelfing Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Despited Swellings.
This Medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy action, by which the watery of calcareous depositions, and all unnatural engrements are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, and is good for men, women and children.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,
For weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissiption, Early Indiscretion, attended with the followin

Symptoms:
Indisposition to Exertion,
Loss of Memory,
Weak Nerves,
Horror of Disease,
Johnness of Vision,
Hot Rands,
Dryness of the Skin,
Universal Lassitude,
These symptoms, if allowed to go on (which this Medicale in variably removes), soon follow—
FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS, &c.,
In one of which the patient may expire. Who can say they are not frequently fellowed by those "direful diseases,"
INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION?

INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION? INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION?

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the insane asylums and the melancholy deaths by consumption bear simple witness to the truth of the assertion.

The Constitution, once affected by organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most aceptical.

A TOAST TO THE BEE.

Down in the glen, where the waters fall Sparklingly, over the rocky wall With its dripping moss, and lichens gray, And bushes wet with the glittering spray, Where the jealous trees shut out the sun, That they may enjoy the wild beauty alon I stretched me at ease by the fountain's six And dipped my cup in the bubbling tide.

Out of its sheltered stony bed,
One little clover raised its head;
But a busy bee who had lost his way
In the lonely glen that summer's day,
Spied the treasure, and holding fast,
Drained from its cup his sweet repast;
And this was the tonet I gave the best.
The friends that I love, and the friends that

We drank in silence, he and I—
He could not, I would not, have made reply;
Then away on his swift wing departed the bee,
And away went my thoughts much faster than he,
Far from the lonely glen, far from the rill,
Over the land and over the sea,
To the friends that I love, and the friends that love.

I found them all, not one did I miss; I greeted each with a loving kiss: All the dear faces that ever I've known Looked true sympathy into my own, Curly heads were laid on my breast, Baby lips unto mine were pressed; Love leaped up with enkindled flame, As I called each dear-loved face by name.

My foot slipped down from the slippery stone, I started—and I was all alone!
Over the rocks dashed the noisy rill,
The spray was dripping from branches still,
The bushes bent from the mossy wall,
And the soft clouds floated over all;
And fresh and strong the mountain breeze
Stirred the boughs of the jealous trees:
All this—no more—my eyes could see—
No friend that I loved, no friend that loved me.

WHITE LILIES.

The street is full of jarring noise, The house is full of care; But smooth the grass-plot shows between, With lilies standing there,

Serene beside the dusty way, 'Mid sounds of sin as fair As if in Eden's silence sweet They drank their native air.

Alas for me! I strive in vain
The heavenly calm to keep;
Though care and toil awhile may pause,
My tempters never sleep.

With prayerful purposes of love The early morn begins; Downcast at evening I return, With nothing but my sins.

Yet through the turbulence of day
The lilles stand in peace.
And when the hueful night comes on,
And loud street-noises cease,

I see them glimmer through the dusk, While softly on the air Their chastened perfume floats abroad, A tender voiceless prayer.

O saintly lilies! Flowers of peace! My heart dissolves in prayer Your steadfast depths of calm to know, Your sacred whiteness wear.

Father! that peace, that purity, Thou givest, at thy will; Now all my hushed, entreating soul With thy sweet Spirit fill!

> "The manner of our converse was as suitable to my inclinations as the matter for whereas many bred in the Universities, and called scholars, have not the wit manners and patience to hear those with whom they discourse speak to the end; but through list and impotency cannot ifold; from before and since the days of hold but cut off a man's speech, when they hear any thing that urgeth them, before the latter part make the former in telligible or strong, like scolds than scholars; as if they commanded silence at the end of each sentence to him that speaketh, or else would have to talk at once-I do not remember that ever he and I did interrupt each other in any discourse. His wisdom and accustomed patience caused him still to stay for the end. And though my disposition has too much forwardness to speak. I had not little wit or manners as to interrupt him: whereby we far better understood each other than we could have done in chop-

SALT IS GOOD. -- He selected ten sheep and struck off their salt for the period of one year, during which five out of the ten died of rot and worms, while the rest of the flock, five hundred in number, which were supplied with salt as usual, lost only five. The second "By the way," said L., in a light, care- ly appeared as if the sun were about to year he selected ten more and put them on an anti-salt diet, and seven of them died, while the remainder of his flock, lost but five. The third year sixteen sheep were selected, and it being a wet year, all of them died of rot and pneu-monia, the rest of the flock remaining as healthy as in the former years.

His experiments with horses and neat cattle, though they did not show that salt was with them so much a matter of life and death as with sheep, at least for the short period of his experiments, yet he proved conclusively that it was essential to their best condition and greatest profit. The cattle that had salt were en-tirely exempt from hoove, which prevail-ed at that time extensively on the continent, and a much smaller per cent. were subject to the pneumonia. Their coats were in better order; they kept them-selves in better flesh, and their meat was of a better quality; they fattened upon food which other animals refused to eat; and what is perhaps of the most impor-tance, their milk was greater in quanti-ty, and much richer both in butter and cheese.

In the epidemics among cattle, salt has

Farmers do not forget to give their cattle salt, but a family which keeps a single cow is very apt to do so to their detriment.

very important testimonial speaks for itself:—

LAWRENCE, Oct. 23, 1864.

Mr. John L. Hunnewell.:

My Dear Sir—I was discharged from the army of the Potomac on the 17th of April, 1863, on account of a Cough, which had been on me seven months. It was so bad that I was told I could live but a short time. In fact, I was discharged to come home to die. I coughed almost incessantly, Night and Pay, and the physicians told me I could not be helped. I tried all that was recommended, without any effect. Mr. Allen, of the firm of Wilson & Allen, of our city, told me of your Cough Resnedy and procured some for me, I took Two BOTTLES ONLY of it, the Cough left me, and has not troubled me since. I am now in perfect health, and have staked the case just as it has occurred. I cannot feel too grateful, and can say truly it has been the means of saving my life. I recommend it to all troubled with a Consumptive or other Cough, as it has cured me perfectly.

FOR POLISHING,

Or Cleaning Gold, Silver, Silver Plated, Britannia, Brass, Tin, Steel, Iron, Copper, Glass or Metals of all finds. For the purpose intended this article cannot be beat. Twenty-five cents invested in a package of this, will add more to the looks of a home than one hundred dollars spent in new ware. Every article of any kind of metal about the house can be kept to look like new. How much pleasanter all are when everything looks bright and clean, which causes a smile upon the face of all. The labor of keeping every article of metal polished with the Spanish Rouge is reduced to a mere pastine and pleasure. It removes the tarnish at the brush of the hand. It is a mineral without any composition whatever, therefore can do no injury.

Fut up in three different qualities, for the finest Gold to the coarsest Metals.

our efforts, could not get cured. The cure was effected in the remarkably short time of two days.

My neighbor, Mrs. Merrill, had a child who was suffering with a cough, and bleeding from the lungs, and to them, also, I gave part of a bottle. She reports a perfect cure of her child by this remarkable remedy, the Great German Heilmittel.

THEODORE COLLAMORE.
Cambridgeport, Jan. 1, 1865.

My little son was afflicted for a year of more with a bad cough. Having lost my husband with consumption, was consequent, ly fearful of losing my child by the same disease. My friends and physicians who saw my child, pronounced it already consumption Although somewhat discouraged by these counsels, I tried my best to save him, and am happy to state that I was successful by the cough disappeared, his general health improved, and gained strength, and subsequently was radically cured, and has remained so for the last two years, not even having the cough return.

From the Journal of Medical Reform.

"We are glad to hear of the re establishment of Rush's Infirmary in the city of Lowell. Dr. Flanders who now conducts it, was formerly Professor in one of the leading colleges at Philadelphia, and the author of valuable medical works. His name, is a household word for medical skill in many parts of our Union. His recent visit to the principal Hospitals, and other medical institutions of Europe, has no doubt added a large stock of information. In the treatment of consumption, and the most difficult and dangerous chronic diseases, he probably has no superior in America. In curing the sick at a distance, we think he has no equal. The printed questions which he sends to invalids are very ingeniously adapted to secure this object."

Professor Flanders, Respected friend:—
You request me to state what it now the condition of my health was the state what it was of my health were here. I will do so very cheerfully: and hope that others will profit by my example. At the time you was Professor in they Medical College here, which I think was about 1886; I had been very bad with the Scrofula for nearly Jour years, had the humor from a child, inher my low years, had the humor from a child, inher money five medicine and actors, but free worse rather than better. I had seviled and ulcerated glands in my neck, and on my limbs, sometimes an itching and burning tetter, on my hands and arms, and sometimes on my face, and in my hands and arms, and sometimes on my face, and in my hands and arms, and sometimes on my face, and in my hands and arms, and sometimes on my face, and in my hands and turn into Consumption; so I despaired of being better, till one day I was at the College and you told me to take old Dr. Rush's Sarsaparilla and from I had always used his Pills, and liked them, and so determined to be as you said. In two more that have been cured as I have. I had always used his Pills, and liked them, and so determined to be as you said. In two more than the part of the college had been counced as I have. Sarsaparilla and from I had not been oursed by weat one of them was worse. I know of two that has been cured of Consumption by the Lung Balan. They were very bad and the doctors said it was consumption. I can get their names and residences for you, and any your known or the my more of them was worse. I know of two that has been cured of Consumption by the Lung Balan. They were very bad and the doctors said it was consumption. I can get their names and residences for you, and any your known or them was so good to me. I shall never longet your known or the consumption to the said the said one of the man as a good to me. I shall never longet your known or the consumption.

TENEMENT HOUSES.

The demand for houses in town is really becoming serious. We have no hesitation in affirming that fifty tenements, at an annual rental of from $50 to $75, would be taken within less than a week after their completion, by a superior class of tenants, for whom employment, and who are anxious to come here to and who are anxious to come here to and who are anxious to come here to a superior and who are anxious to come here to a superior and who are anxious to come here to a superior class of tenants for wands are a disgrace to the town, such things are a disgrace to the town, and a stop should be put to them. It is a sight of the ingenuity of man, and the returned soldiers charged with being the cause of this lawlessness. Nothing can be more divised, which we live, visit this grand and in-unjust than such assertions. Some may have come back who have returned to the interest of the show.

LAWRENCE, Oct. 23, 1864.
MR. JOHN L. HUNNEWELL: LAWRENCE, Oct. 23, 1864.

Mr. John L. Hunnewell.:

My Dear Sir—I was discharged from the army of the Potomac on the 17th of April, 1863, on account of a Cough, which had been on me seven months. It was so bad that I was told I could live but a short time. In fact, I was discharged to come home to die. I coughed almost incessantly, NtoHr and Dar, and the physicians told me I could not be helped. I tried all that was recommended, without any effect. Mr. Allen, of the firm of Wilson & Allen, of our city, told me of your Cough Remedy and procured some for me.

I took two mottles only of it, the Cough left me, and has not troubled me since. I am now in perfect health, and have stated the case just as it has occurred. I cannot feel too grateful, and can asy truly it has been the means of saving my life. I recommend it to all troubled with a Continuous continuous continuous cough, as it has cured me perfectly.

ON THE FERRY.

BY MARY CLEMMER AMES.

On the ferry sailing over
To the city, lying dim,
In the mellow mists of evening,
On the river's farther rim,
On the ferry, gazing outward,
O'er the river far and cold,
While the blue bay dips its waters
In the sunset's fleeting gold.

In another summer evening, On, a little way before, I shall reach another ferry, Seeking swift a farther shore. I shall cross a drearer ferry— Crossing to return no more, Sailing for a fairer city Lying on a fairer shore.

Lying on a fairer store.

Will God's sunshine lean around me
Flushing every wave in gold?

With the sunshine lean around me
Flushing every wave in gold?

With the earth airs case to chill me,
When the earth airs case to chill me,
When my meagre day is done,
Boatman, bear me through the splendor,
Failing from the setting sun!
Bear me cutward to the mystery
The Eternal will unfold—
To the unrevealed glory
Hid within yon gates of gold.

Life may touch the soul so gently,
We can hardly call it rough;
Yet we'll all say in its closing,
Our brief day's been long enough.
So I stand with gathered garments,
Ere the deeper shadows fall;
Drops my heart its last, last idol,
Listening for the boatman's call,
Come! and by my spirits sinking,
By my shrinking fears untold,
Bear me gently o'er those waters,
Charon, boatman, calm and cold.

THE CHILDREN.

When the lessons and tasks are all ended,
And the school for the day is dismissed,
The little ones gather around me
To bid me "Good-night," and be kissed,
Oh, the little white arms that encircle
My neck in their tender embrace;
Oh, the smiles that are halos of heaven,
Shedding sunshine of love on my face.

And when they are gone, I sit dreaming Of my childhood—to lovely to last— Of my childhood—to lovely to last—
Of that joy my heart will remember Beat;
For the world and its wickedness made me
A partner of Sorrow and Sin,
When the glory of God was about me,
And the glory of gladness within.

I shall leave the old house in the autumn,
To traverse its threshhold no more;
Ah! how I shall sigh for the dear ones
That meet me each morn at the door;
I shall miss the "Good-nights," and the kisse
And the gush of their innocent glee;
The group on the green, and the flowers
That are brought every morning for me.

THE MOSS ROSE.

FROM THE GERMAN OF KRUMMACHER. The angel of the flowers, while keeping
His watch beneath a rose-tree's shade,
Filled with the rich perfume, fell sleeping
Among the winds that round him played.
His was the task to feed the roses
With distilled drops of morning bright;
When nature from her work reposes,
And all things kiss the brow of night.

THUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY.—The following stricty reliable and very important testimonial speaks for itself:—

LAWRENCE, Oct. 23, 1864.

MR. John L. Hunnewell:

My Dear Sir—I was discharged from the army of the Potomac on the 17th of April, 1863, on account of a Cough, which had been on me seven months. It was so bad that I was told I could live but a short time. In fact, I was discharged to come home to die. I coughed almost incesantly, stour and Day, and the physicians told me I could not be helped. I tried all that was recommended, without any effect. Mr. Allen, of the firm of Wilson & Allen, of our city, told me of your Cough Remedy and procured some for me. I took Two BOTTLES ONLY of it, the Cough left me, and has not troubled me since. I am now in perfect health, and have stated the case just as it has occurred. I cannot feel too grateful, and can say truly thas been the means of saving my life. I recommend it to all troubled with a Consumptive or other Cough, as it has cured me perfectly.

SOONER OR LATER.

BY HARRIET E. PRESCOTT. Sooner or later the storm shall beat Over my slumber from head to feet; Sooner or later the winds shall rave In the long grass above my grave. I shall not heed them where I lie, Nothing their sound shall signify.

Sooner or later the sun shall shine With tender warmth on that mound of mine,

I shall not feel in that deep-laid rest, The sheeted light fall over my breast. Nor ever note in those hidden hours The wind-blown breath of the tossing flowers. Sooner or later the stainless snows Shall add their hush to my mute repose; Sooner or later shall slant and shift, And heap my bed with their dazzling drift

Chill though that frozen pall shall seem, Its touch no colder can make the dream That recks not the sweet and sacred dread Shrouding the city of the dead. Sooner or later the bee shall come And fill the noon with his golden hum; Sooner or later on half-paused wing The blue-bird's warble about me ring,—

Ring and chirrup and whistle with glee, Nothing his music means to me. None of those beautiful things shall know How soundly their lover sleeps below. Sooner or later, far out in the night, The stars shall over me wing their flight; Sooner or later my sparkling dews Catch the white spark in their silent ooze.

Caten the winterpose.

Never a ray shall part the gloom

That wraps me round in the kindly tomb;

Peace shall be perfect for lip and brow!

Sooner or later,—Or why not now!

By the use of he very first bottle, my wife began to improve, and after using but six bottles of it, attrely recovered her health. I consider who should choose to get his living out.

Such as guarding houses or defending a master, he came to be called Bummer. They call a man who loafs at the corner of the streets, and does not work, as all honest men should with his head or his hands, a "bummer." Now it was not the dog's fault that he did not work, so I am torry that he got such a name. A man attrely recovered her health. Not thus did the noble Bummer. He took the sick and forlorn old dog under his especial care: he brought him to a comfortable shed, and, for aught I know, told him, in dog language, to keep quiet and easy in his own bed of soft rags; he carried, every day, the very nicest pieces of meat, the bones most richly clothed with fat beef or lamb, to the hungry creature; and, in short, he nursed, with really tender, canine care, the sick dog, until he was able to go forth with him about the city. Then woe to the unfortunate cur that dared to snap at the recovered dog; Bummer was at him in an instant. The two dogs were always together, and some people watched the growing care and friendship between them, and named the protege of Bummer, Lazarus. (If you don't know why they gave him this name, you can get your mother or your auntie to tell you.) Henceforth, Bummer and Lazarus went in company. Everybody in the city knew them. Everybody honored them; coamed the busy streets by day, Bumner stoutly leading, the now sleek and happy Lazarus trotting gaily at his heels. They did excellent service for the merchants in ridding their stores of rats, dispatching as many as forty from a store n a single morning sometimes. But Lazarus must have had some constitutional weakness; for with all his good living he grew sick again after a few years of brightness, and, one morning it came out in the San Francisco Bulletin that Lazerus had departed this life, to the griet of all the city, and the deep sorrow of the faithful Bummer. Death is a mystery to human beings; a strange and dark thing whenever it comes, even when we know that the dead tempt him, and no friendly bark arouse him. MARRIAGE GUIDE — YOUNG'S GREAT PHY—
SIOLOGICAL WORK, of Every one his own Doctor—Being a Private Instructor for Married Persons or those about to Marry, both Male and Female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our Sexual System, and the Production or Prevention of Offspring, including all the new discoveries never before given in the English language, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with upwards of one hundred engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with. Still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of Fifty Cents. Address Dr. WM. REMEDY.—The following strictly reliable and very important testimonial speaks for itself:—

LAWRENCE, Oct. 23, 1864.

MR. JOHN L. HUNNEWELL:

My Dear Sit—I was discharged from the army of the Potomac on the 17th of April, 1863, on account of a Cough, which had been on me seven months. It was so bad that I was told I could live but a short time. In fact, I was discharged to come home to die. I coughed almost incessantly, Night and Day, and the physicians told me I could not be helped. I tried all that was recommended, without any effect. Mr. Allen, of the firm of Wilson & Allen, of our city, told me of your Cough Remedy and procured some for me. I toek two bottles only of it, the Cough left me, and has not troubled me since. I am now in perfect health, and have stated the case just as it has occurred. I cannot feel too grateful, and can say truly it has been the means of saving my life. I recommend it to all troubled with a Consumptive or other Cough, as it has cured me perfectly.

Yours, truly,

LEVI H. CARTER.

All good physicians now admit the importance of fnox to eurich and give life to poor and watery blood. There can be no new and healthy blood formed without it., ALL DINASSE OF DEBILITY depend upon a lack of Iron in the system. SARSAPARILLA, also, is not less admitted to have the property of PURIFITY to be blood of all corrupt humors.

RESH'S SARSAPARILLA AND IRON is a chemical compound of the best imported Sarsaparilla, with the most delicate and active preparation of Iron known to modern science. It was first prepared by the celeptated Dr. Rush, who used it for the cure of nearly all chronic diseases. It has since been improved and perfected by Professor Flanders, who now prepares it. It is pleasant to take, and agrees with the most delicate stomach. It purifies, and gives new life to the blood, in the shortest possible time; brings new roses to the checks of the pale and languid; makes the complexion clear and beautiful; and gives strength and an imation to the entire system.
